Answer 1:-

The three functions used to access elements in DOM are:-

1)getElementsByTagName();

2)getElementsByClassName();

3)getaelementById();

The first two functions return data in the array form and the third function returns a single element because Id is used to access unique elements.